City Affairs.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Jan. 26, 1850.

An Ordinance establishing the City Seal, passed to be ordained.

The following Reports were severally accepted in concurrence.

Of Committee on Accounts and Claims on several bills.

Of the Committee on Streets and Highways on the petition of Wm. B. Harlow and als for the acceptance of Cedar street—that said street be laid out and accepted.

Of same, on the memorial of Mrs. Sarah W. Hale, in relation to laying out Grove street—that no action is necessary by the City Council.

Of same, on the petition of F. Hobbs, Esq., for the discontinuance of a portion of the width of Lime street—that the prayer of petition be granted.

Of same, on the petition of Asa Davis et als for the grade of Adams street—that the prayer of same be granted.

Of same, on petition of Dwinal Haynes to have Parker street laid out—that the said street should be laid out.

Of same, on the petition of A. M. Higgins et als to have Bower street laid out—that the petitioners have leave to withdraw.

Of same, on petition of Lorenzo Emery et als to have Patten street laid out—that the prayer of the petitioners be granted.

Of same, on petition of Jane Beacroft et als for sidewalk on Harlow street—that petitioners have leave to withdraw.

Of same, on petition of Smith Springer et als for sidewalk.

Of B. F. Weed et als for do.

Of S. B. Straw et als for do.

Of J. M. Foster et als for do.

Of N. Warren et als for extension of Chase Road—that said petitions be referred to the next City Council.

Of same, on petition of J. W. Holman et als for a new street to be laid out—that the same be laid out.

Of same on petition of Pliny D. Parsons et als for a new road—that the prayer of said petioners be granted.

Of the Committee on Accounts and Claims, on claim of B. Bursley for allowance for injury received by him while on duty as fireman—laid on the table.

Of same, on the claim of Jesse Gilman for allowance for injury received by him in falling into a cellar on Broad street—that $25 dollars be allowed said Gilman.

The following Orders were severally passed in concurrence—

Order for the Mayor to draw his order in favor of Jesse Gilman for the sum of $25 in full for his claim, for damage claimed for injury received by him in falling into a cellar on Broad street.

Order, that two feet ten inches on the west side of Lime street be discontinued.

Order for the Street Engineers to grade Adams street.

Order for the Street Engineers to lay out a road from the new county road leading to Oldtown, on the line between land of Moses Rickker and Benj. Reed, to a point near the house of Abijah Dunbar, on the Orono road.

Order, the Mayor and City Clerk procure the engraving on brass of the City Seal this day adopted by the City Council.

Order for the Mayor to draw his order on the city Treasurer in favor of B. Bursley, for $50 for allowance for injury received by him while on duty as a fireman—laid on the table.

Order for the Street Engineers to lay out a street from Main street to the land of G. W. Savage, as prayed for by J. W. Holman et als, passed in the Board of Aldermen and laid on the table in the Common Council.

A Bond of $1000 of P. B. Mills, Esq., conditioned to remove so much of his building, corner of Exchange and State streets, as is within the limits of said street, by the first of June next. Accepted by the Board of Aldermen and non-concurred by the Common Council.

Adjourned to Saturday, Feb. 23, 2 o'clock P. M.

Special meeting of the City Council.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Feb. 4, 1850.

The bond of P. B. Mills conditioned to remove his building from the limits of State St., came up for concurrence, and the Board adhered to its vote accepting said bond—and the Common Council receded and accepted the same in concurrence.

An order, rescinding the order of the City Council passed Jan. 4 last, directing the City Marsal to remove so much of the building of P. B. Mills, corner of Exchange and State Streets as is within State Street. Passed in concurrence.

Plan for Agricultural Schools.

The efforts that are now made in various States for a broader and better education of the people, are quite cheering to the heart of the Philanthropist. This subject has been brought to the attention of the Legislature of this State and now lies over for the consideration of the legislature next to meet. The active efforts of the friends of the measure of an agricultural school in the States of Massachusetts and New York will, doubtless secure institutions of the kind in those two States.

It behooves every friend of this enterprize in Maine to agitate this subject. It is due to the great agricultural profession that a large public school should be sustained where the true elements of a right education of a substantial useful character shall be developed. In this way not only will the general intellectual plane of society be elevated, but the resources of the State will be the earlier and more regularly unfolded; and labor being rightly directed will be more cheerful and more prosperous.

We notice that at the late legislative agricultural meeting in Boston this subject was very ably treated, and from the report of proceedings of that meeting we make some extracts which we doubt not will be read with deep interest.

Hon Marshall P. Wilder, President of the Senate, by special request, opened the discussion, and spoke in substance as follows;

Mr President and Gentlemen—By request, I address you this evening on the important subject of Agricultural Education, or the professional education of the farmers of Massachusetts. The institution which we desire to see established, should do for them what our Normal Schools do for common instructors; our Medical Colleges, for physicians; our Law Schools, for lawyers; our Theological Seminaries, for the clergy;—individualizing the aim of general education and subordinating it to a specific purpose.

In its general character and object it should correspond with agricultural schools in the mother country and in Europe, with this difference; it must be American—suited to our government and wants, suited to the meridian of the old Bay State.

There's agricultural school, in Moeglid, in Prussia, has already been described in this discussion. A gentleman (Mr Jenks) has given us an account of the kindred seminary and model farm at Templemoyle, in the north of Ireland. The most celebrated of the French agricultural schools is at Grighon, with an experimental farm of 624 acres. The course of instruction is both theoretical and practical, with a course of study for two years, including mathematics, topography physics, chemistry, botany, physiology,—both vegetable and animal—veterinary science, culture, and rural economy; also mechanics, hydraulics, astronomy agricultural geology, mineralogy, gardening, rural architecture, and legislation. It has two classes of pupils, the older and the younger, each member of which pays from $225 to 275 a year.

The distinguished school at Switzerland has a more extended course, occupying nine years and including, in addition to the studies pursued at Grignon, all the branches of a finished classical and scientific education. The studies are divided into three orders, and each order again into three classes. The expenses are from $450 to $600 a year for each scholar.

In European agricultural institutions, the art and science of farming are pursued simultaneously, each scholar working on the experimental farm a part of the day. They generally have extensive cabinets, laboratories, botanic gardens, nurseries, vineyards, museums of implements of husbandry, and workshops for mechanics. The veterinary colleges in transatlantic countries qualify young men to administer remedies for all kinds of diseases among domestic animals.

We need an institution in this Commonwealth which shall do for our farmers what these agricultural schools are doing for Europe; an institution which shall require for admission a good common, and if you please, an academic education, and which shall give our young farmers a good knowledge of agricultural chemistry, mineralogy, geology and botany, of natural philosophy, horticulture, vegetable and animal physiology, of practical mathematics, as civil engineering, surveying, gauging and mensuration, of book-keeping, rural economy and agriculture, and, in a word, of all the sciences on which the art of cultivation depends.

However important or indispensable an institution may be to give our young farmers the education which they need and desire, a moment's reflection will convince us that it is only a part of a system of agricultural education which is needed in this Commonwealth. If it were now to go into operation with 200 students and its course of study were to occupy three years, at the end of ten years, it would have graduated only about 600 students. What could these do among the 100,000 farmers in Massachusetts? True they might teach them by precept and example, but ought not something to be done for the 99,400 that remain?

What other means of promoting this cause may we employ? Periodicals have done much, and are destined to do more, by awakening inquiry and imparting valuable information. The same is true of agricultural exhibitions, and when we consider their great advantages and interest, might not government properly double or triple the appropriation which she annually makes to the Societies holding them, and instead of $200 for every thousand which they invest, grant them $300 or more, to enable them to continue their fairs longer, to offer more numerous and liberal premiums, and to provide for lectures and discussions, in connection with the same, or at a different time, and in several towns of the county. These agricultural panoramas now unwind too rapidly to realize their full benefit.

Agricultural books and libraries are important; and $7,500 appropriated on the principle upon which the State has put school libraries into the districts of the respective towns, would put an agricultural library into the clerk's office of every town in the Commonwealth, in a single year; and thus bring the means of improvement within the reach of all our farmers.

We have Normal Schools, which are performing an important public service, and in which a small appropriation by the State would sustain a teacher of agriculture, so that those graduating from these institutions might be prepared to teach this important branch in our town schools. We have Medical Colleges, where a similar appropriation to sustain a professor of veterinary science, would prepare a class of young men to practice this important art for the cure of domestic animals.

What are our other colleges doing for agricultural education? Harvard University, one of the oldest and most useful of our institutions has no professor of agriculture or horticulture; though much is anticipated from Mr Bussey's legacy, which will eventually be available, for the establishment of an Agricultural college and experimental farm in connection with that institution.

Amherst College, I am informed, has entertained the question of establishing an agricultural department. How far the same may be true of Williams College, I know not, but it has been thought that it would not be difficult, if the government would encourage the effort, to secure on all these institutions, adequate instruction in this important art of science. But an agricultural college and experimental farm are requisite to give completeness to that system of agricultural education which our farmers require. The Bussey institution, when it goes into operation in the neighborhood, will not supersede the necessity for another, either connected with one of the colleges or independent of them, in the central or western part of the State.

Such an institution, when once put into successful operation, might be made to support itself.

Suppose that it costs $100,000, or $150,000, and had 200 students, each paying $100 a year, or half his expenses, the other half being realized from their labor on the farm. This would make an income per year of $20,000, enough to give a President, per year $2,000

Five Professors, per year 7,500

Twelve practical Farmers, Gardeners, Mechanics, and a Steward, &c. 6,000 and to leave for other laborers and contingent expenses, per year $1,500

$15,500

$15,500

The foregoing estimate is grounded substantially on a plan just reported by the Agricultural Commissioners of New York to the Assembly.

The number of students, and of course, the income of the institution would be increased, if it embraced two departments, one for a full course of professional study, of three years, the other a preparatory, and partial course, in which pupils could remain a shorter period and receive some of its advantages.

In conclusion, Mr President, allow me to express the hope that they to whom the Legislature may commit this subject, will consider any occasion which there may be, for an agricultural Department in our State government, like that proposed in the national government at Washington, and sustaining the similar relation to the agriculture of the State, as the Board of Education does to our system of common instruction. I hope they may also report what appropriations if any, are requisite, on the part of government to secure instruction in this science in our medical and other colleges and normal schools—whether any additional aid should be granted by the State to local agricultural Societies within—how proper instruction in agriculture may be secured in our systems of common and popular education—and by what other means this cause, so important to the farmers of the Commonwealth, and so intimately connected with the welfare of all her citizens, may be promoted. I commend it to your deliberation and to the wisdom of the Legislature and of the Executive.

A communication was read from Mr. Proctor President of the Essex County Agricultural Society, by Mr. Cole, one of the Secretaries.—In this letter, Mr. Proctor, after alluding to the importance of the work, and crediting our good old Commonwealth with having done more in days gone by for the cause than is generally allowed her, spoke of the importance of having a definite plan before the community, and suggested the consideration of the plan adopted by the citizens of New York State, and the appointment of a Board of Commissioners to investigate the matter and report a plan.

He suggested three plans which might be worthy of consideration. First, the establishment of a central school with an extensive experimental farm; 2d, the establishment of such schools in every agricultural county in the State—or the engrafting of these upon institutions now existing; 3d, the introduction of the elements of agriculture and horticultural science into our public schools.

J. E. Teschemacher, Esq., of East Boston, was then called on by the President, and in response to the call addressed the meeting substantially as follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen:—After all the able papers which have been written and the numerous eloquent speeches which have been made, to bring about the establishment of institutions for the agricultural education of youth it appears hardly possible to urge anything on this all-important topic. Yet so important does it seem, both to the present and succeeding generations, that it is impossible to present the reasons and arguments used, too frequently to the minds of those on whom devolves the duty of putting this ball in effectual motion in the State of Massachusetts.

I have said that it is difficult to urge anything new on this topic—yet I should like to call attention to the following statement.

Had it been prophesied and believed, six or seven years ago, that a fatal disease would attack the potato crops, causing the loss of millions of dollars, to the cultivator as well as to the consumer; that, after six or seven years suffering and loss, a remedy would be discovered by the scientific student, which would completely stay, and perhaps annihilate this disease.

Would any one have hesitated a moment in voting one million of dollars to stay the disease, the first year of its appearance and would it not have been economy to set science at work without delay, for this purpose at any cost?—Had it is prophecy been made, it would have certainly come to pass, for this is just what has happened. It may be new to many that this discovery has been made, and as it seems to me to bear directly on the subject before us, I trust I may be allowed a very few minutes' time to give an account thereof.

This discovery was brought before the Boston Natural History Society about a month since, by its originator, Dr. A. A. Hayes, one of the ablest chemists in this country. The destroyer of this disease is sulphurous acid gas, which is made by burning brimstone or sulpour. Potatoes attacked by this disease, are exposed to this gas, and the disease is directly destroyed. The method is to place the potatoes on a rack, and put a pan of burning sulphur underneath. The gas will rise and circulate amongst them. In twenty experiments not one has failed. The way this gas acts is simple. What very may be said on the subject of this disease, one thing is certain, because it has been seen by all who have carefully examined it. This fact is, the existence of minute organic bodies, or globules, which propagate and spread throughout the mass of potatoes with inconceivable rapidity. My own opinion on this subject was promulgated in the Boston Courier newspaper in October, 1844, and I have not yet seen any good reason to alter that opinion in the least.

The fermentation in liquors takes place by the action of what chemists call a ferment, or what is usually called yeast. This yeast or ferment is well known to be a mass of minute organic globules which, by the mere act of contact and propagation among themselves, produce an entire change in the liquor in which they are placed. It then gives off carbonic acid gas, and ferments and generates alcohol. Now an extremely small quantity of this sulphurous acid gas immediately stops the action of these globules of ferment, and entirely arrests fermentation. One of the great benefits arising from the quite recent discovery of the use of this gas in the preparation of the sugar from the cane, arises from its entirely preventing the fermentation of the cane juice. I have no doubt of its efficacy although I have not tried it. I should state, however, that this gas is injurious to the lungs if breathed in any quantity, but not sufficiently so as to prevent the application of this remedy to the potato.—The action of this gas, then, is probably the same on the organic globules of the potato as on the yeast or ferment.

Now the question is, how is this gas to be applied to the growing crops. It cannot be expected that Dr Hayes who resides in Pine street, would devote his attention to practical experiments on the subject—nor can it be expected that the farmers should have knowledge enough to watch such experiments with the practiced eye of an experienced chemist, so as to observe the changes that take place, and change the experiment or application to meet the first change of circumstances. Nor is there any place where such experiments could be carried on with the requisite care and attention, but in a place for agricultural education.

In precisely the same position as this potato disease and its remedy, stand many other diseases both vegetable and animal. In this same position stands every method of making, saving, and preparing manures and compost—every improvement in the breeding of stock—in the value of the fleece—in the raising agricultural crops—in fact, every ameliorat on in the method of cultivation or preparation of the soil for successful agriculture. Nor do I think it possible for a man to lose character or appear visionary in prophesying largely of the benefits which will accrue from the competent education of those youth who are destined to pursue agriculture for their lives.

Agriculture, gentlemen—why the more agriculture is studied, the more persuaded must every one be that it is a pursuit which requires full as much preparation of mind and body, as the most arduous pursuit in which man is employed. Why, gentlemen, to heal the diseases and promote the health of man, the physician must know all about the human frame, and the functions of its various parts. It is part of the business of the chemist to know all about the component part of rocks, their disintegration, and what kind of soil they form—about ammonia, the phosphates, carbonates and sulphates; of the astronomer to know about the sun, moon, the influences of the heavens, and of meteorology; of the botanist to know about the phisiology of plants, or by what means improved kinds may be raised from seed, of their suitableness to our own soils, and the best means of propagating valuable fruits; of the entomologist to know all about the habits of the devastating insects, that their ravages may be stayed; of the merchant to know respecting the supplies of grain from distant sections of the country, where the best cattle are to be had and raised, with all probabilities of advance or recession of prices; of the engineer and mechanic to know all about wheels, machinery, the power and application of draft, the raising and draining of water, sea, &c., Now is there one of these pursuits, the elementary and practical principles of which are not absolutely requisite to the education of the agriculturist who wishes either his self, or his children to follow the noblest employments of man, with fair prospects of distinction and success?

If, then, such an education is indispensable to successful agriculture, what do we see where such an education is wanting. We see small quantities of poor produce from the land; poor cattle, poor sheep, poor fowls, poor butter, poor cheese—in a word, poor farming; and with about the same expense of labor. Why do we here get our best butter from New York or Vermont? I am told because they have richer pastures, but I will never believe that our pastures cannot be made as rich by proper application. The instances where poor, miserable land has, by cultivation and proper applications been converted into the most productive farms, are too numerous and too well authenticated in every county, for such a story to pass current.

Now, it is not sought to lay the whole expense of agricultural education on the agricultural class alone. Almost every other class of citizens—the merchant, the lawyer, the physician, the mechanic, nay, even the laborer,—are doubtless willing to pay their quota towards it, provided it be well done. For their interest therein is manifest. Their food, even at the same cost as at present, will certainly be more nutricious, and of better quality generally, if raised under the direction of proper knowledge; while the probability is that it will be much cheaper. In fact, it only depends on the farmers themselves to put their hands into the pockets of the remainder of the community, and provide for their own profession ample means of education. Every one feels and knows that agriculture is the true basis of national grandeur and prosperity; every one ought to feel that to pursue it successfully is one of the very few justifiable grounds for national pride.

It is evident that a great movement on this subject is in preparation in the most powerful and civilized section of this country, and is engrossing the attention of the wisest and the best in all sections. And this movement will go on at an accelerated rate, whether Massachusetts join in it or not; and I think it would create rather unpleasant feelings for this State, which has hitherto, through her Normal Schools and other institutions, generally taken the lead in education, to have her sons travel into neighboring States for their agricultural education

One more point and I have done. We have on American climate, American insects, American crops. To these, although the system, order, and physical principles practiced in other countries may suit, the working details must belong to this country. In a word if Massachusetts undertakes this subject of agricultural education at all, let it be well done at first—for if worth doing at all it is worth doing with the whole heart and mind.

BLISS'S COMPOUND COD LIVER OIL CANDY.

For the Cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Tickling in the Throat, and all Lung and Bronchial Affections.

THE WONDERFUL curative powers of Cod Liver Oil in all cases of Cough, Colds and Consumption, have been clearly demonstrated by the most experienced physicians in Europe and America. Its peculiar virtues are already too well known to need any description here. The nausea and disgust which many people experience in swallowing the Oil in its usual form of administration is entirely obviated by the discovery of the mode of preparing it in the form of a most AGREEABLE CANDY, possessing and preserving all the medicinal qualities of the Pure Cod Liver Oil without its nauseous and repulsive taste. The power of curative principle of this Oil being thus retained, and continued with other healing and balm ess ingredients justly celebrated for their efficacy in the above mentioned complaints, forms one of the most soothing Cough Remedies, and remedial agents for staying the advance of Consumption that has ever been discovered. This Candy needs but a fair trial to convince the skeptical of its excellence. Public speakers and vocalists will find from excellent article for removing obstructions from the throat and clearing the voice.

N. B.—Be particular and enquire for "Bliss's Cod Liver Oil Candy," and observe the signature of the proprietor on each package.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4th, 1 A. M.

Terrible Accident,—Tremendous Explosion!

FIFTY LIVES LOST!

A Steam Boiler Burst and a Six Story Building Destroyed!!

This morning, about 8 o'clock, the neighborhood of Hague and Frankfort streets, was alarmed by a terrible explosion; the violence of which shook the buildings and caused the ground to tremble for several blocks around;—while in the immediate vicinity the glass was shattered from windows, and the concussion was so violent and seemingly lasted so long as to bear every resemblance to an earthquake.—This was succeeded by a cry of fire, and in a few moments, thousands were pouring in from every direction—firemen with their engines making their way to their day's work, and business men leaving their stores to take care of clerk or boys.

On repairing among others to the spot we found that the explosion was in the establishment of A. B. Taylor & Son, well known Printing Press Manufacturers, No. 3 Hague st., and from our knowledge of the extent of their concern we fel: before enquiring that a mournful loss of life must inevitably be the consequences. While we write it is impossible to state the precise amount of damage done, or the number of lives which have been thus suddenly cut off. Mr. Taylor employed about 60 or 70 hands, nearly every one of whom had lassembled and commenced work for the day at the time of the accident. It is feared very few of them have lived to report the tale of the sad disaster by which they were overtaken.

Within a week or two, changes have been made in the boilers by which the powerful machinery of Mr. Taylor's establishment was driven, and it is apprehended that some defect either in the manufacture or the adjustment of some part of it was the origin of the terrible catastrophe.

As usual on Monday mornings the fireman had started the fire under it at an earlier hour than usual on account of its getting cold while standing unused over Sunday, and hardly has steam been raised and motion been communicated to the shafting when the explosion took place, and in an instant the upper part of the building was blown completely off, and fire communicated to the remainder.

The boiler was one of Morgan's Patent with upright tubes, and the explosion was from the top and upward.

The night watch, David Blank, who had left the building but an instant before, had just remarked to Cressy, the Engineer, that he was getting too much steam on, but Cressy paid no attention to it.

Besides the establishment of Mr. T., there was in the same building that of St. John Truran & Co., hat body manufacturers, who gave employment to about 65 men and boys, all or nearly all of these had assembled for the day, and some were just coming in at the door.

Another floor of the building was occupied by E. Yates, Glass Cutter, employing many workmen.

It is thought that there were 150 persons in all parts of the building.

The bodies of those who have been recovered, have been generally found to be so mangled that it was impossible to recognize them. Ten bodies were drawn out in the course of half an hour, only 3 of them were recognized.

Persons who escaped entirely, M. D. Ford, Geo. Whitney, David Borland.

Persons not fatally wounded—James Fly, Mr Thompson, James Dougherty, and Westly Rowland.

Persons severely injured—Francis Toonich, arm broken, fell from third floor to cellar; Lewis Daley, watch case maker, head, legs and arms badly bruised. Mr. Taylor resided in Newark, and did not arrive on the ground, till 9 o'clock.

LATER.

NEW YORK, 11 o'clock—15 min. A. M.

Your correspondent has just returned from the scene of explosion. The fire is still raging in the ruins, which are surrounded by an immense crowd, extending into the adjacent portions of Frankfort and Pearl streets. The shouts of many who were entirely covered up in the ruins could be heard, and caused the most intense excitement on the part of the spectators.

The Foreman of the principal Manufactory in the building, says there are now 60 persons missing, whom he supposes to have been in the building. In visiting the 4th Ward Station House on Oak st., I found that 9 wounded persons and 1 dead body had been brought thither from the place of explosion. None of the wounded were dangerously hurt; several of them walked home after receiving Surgical aid. The dead man's name was Merritt.

From the appearance of the ruins, it must be impossible to discover the remains of the victims, for many hours.

The whole building appears to have fallen into ruins immediately after the explosion.—Hardly a piece of the walls is standing on Hague st.

12 o'clock

The latest reports from the fire, state that 22 dead bodies have been recovered

It is now believed that 100 lives have been lost by the accident.

2 P. M

Supposed to be Wm. Merritt at 4th Ward Station House, turns out to be Eli Hall.

There was still, at 12 o'clock, a number of voices heard under the ruins. Their cries, all the morning, were most pitious. It is feared that a large majority of those under the ruins, are either crushed to death or drowned from the immense quantity of water poured in.

At a quarter to 12 o'clock, there were 2 taken out, viz: Henry Gerandet, a man about 40 years of age, residing at Brooklyn; Fred. Timon, about 10 years of age, residing at Brooklyn, not much hurt; A. Eldridge of the Machine shop, residing at 3d Avenue, bruised, but not, it is hoped, dangerously. These poor fellows were dripping wet and shivering fearfully. Mr. Cary, Chief Engineer of the Machine shop, has not been heard of since the explosion. It is presumed he is among the killed who are buried in the ruins, as he was known to have been near the boiler when it exploded. The proprietor and his friends state that it was a new, Montgomery boiler, and the accident is accounted for by the intense fire cooling down the boiler to a low degree of temperature, and the fire being applied suddenly and with too great force, this morning caused an undue expansion of it, and thus producing the explosion.

In the machine shop and hat shop, together, there were usually about 130 hands, from 105 to 125 men and boys present at the time of the explosion.

Up to 12 o'clock, 30 had been taken out from the ruins, so that there must be some 60 or 70 there still.

At Rio Janeiro Dec. 16, bark Gold Hunter, Jackson, from Bangor for San Francisco.

SCENE NEAR THE BANGOR HOUSE

A Southerner on a tour through Maine, arrives near the Bangor House, on a very disagreeable, Winter's day, shivering and shaking with cold

ACT 1st.

Southerner—Can you tell me, stranger, where I can obtain some relief, in the way of refreshments for this cold which seems to penetrate my inmost vitals, and gives the palsy stroke, and the quiver of the aspen leaf?

Citizen—Give up, sir, at once, all idea of partaking of beverages which lead directly, or remotely to inebriation. Instead of this, permit me to conduct you to the far-famed Oyster Saloon of GEORGE FARRINGTON, where a supply of his rich and unsurpassed Oyster Soups, all hot and fragrant steaming, will speedily chase away the winter's chills and send a delightful glow of pleasurable health, through the innumerable channels of your system, making you feel more than the master of kingdoms!

Southerner—Right, friend. Your poetical and philosophical prescription shall be observed. I yield myself to your guidance

Citizen—Here, sir, is the most popular establishment of our popular city. Walk in. Your visit has been anticipated by our friend Farrington, and the glow of emphatic satisfaction is enthroned on his countenance. Try the prescription and you will soon be transformed into your former self

While you are enjoying the pleasurable sensations of the plate which these savory bivalves produce, allow me to say to you that you and all other visiting our city, should call at this Saloon for Oyster Soup, or if you prefer them in larger quantities for home use, they may here be obtained of the best quality. Farrington keeps supplied with fresh and prime Oysters. His place, here, is at the East end of Kenduskeag Bridge, just two doors from John Low's, not new, but "Old Market," which is now known to be everlastingly solid firm, and well established. Here the freshest Oysters and the most savoury and delicate Oyster Soups may be found, of any spot in all this broad land

BANGOR, Oct 21, 1849
John L Wilder Esq —
Dear Sir—The Safe I purchased of you was exposed to a great degree of heat at the burning of the Telegraph Office, in this city It was in the five six hours the books and papers were uninjured, and the damage to the Safe very slight, although it felt from the second story to the basement of the building The little repairs necessary to the Safe have been made and we shall not need to return it It is still as good as new
Respectfully yours, JAS FODDY

LINCOLN STAGE HOUSE,
HALLOWELL, MAINE.

THIS House has recently undergone extensive alterations and repairs, and is now prepared for the accommodation of the public and friends of the subscribers.

They flatter themselves that they will be able to provide as comfortable and convenient quarters as may be desired — the recent improvements having had special reference to that object.

Private families who may wish to spend a few days or weeks in this village, will be amply accommodated.

The House has also been elegantly furnished throughout with new furniture and no pains will be spared by the subscribers to furnish their guests with every thing for their comfort and convenience.

Connected with this House is a large and commodious Stable, which has also been improved and repaired where any horses be found an experienced faithful Ostler. Horses and carriages furnished for all who may want.

The subscribers further their services to the public and intend by keeping a first rate House, and attending faithfully to their business to merit a liberal share of patronage.

JAMESON & HARTWELL

Lincoln Me, Nov 26 1849 4tw3m

HALLOWELL HOUSE,
HALLOWELL, MAINE.

THE subscriber respectfully announces to his friends and the public that he has leased this well known Hotel and has made many important improvements and repairs, and has newly furnished throughout in a manner fault with the most of any other establishment on the Kennebec. He has used every exertion to make it one of the best resorts for the travelling public that can be found in this section of the country.

Gentlemen with their families and members of the State Legislature will be furnished with superior accommodations. The proprietor hopes by personal politeness and attention to merit the support and confidence of the public. Connected with the House is a good Stable where careful and experienced Ostlers will always be in attendance.

DOCT. MARSHALL'S
Aromatic Catarrh and Headache Snuff.

THIS article is the preparation of the world famed Dr Marshall for the treatment of all Catarrhal affections.

It relieves at once the most severe cases of Catarrh, Headache, Deafness, Ringing in the head, Ulcerated Throat, Bad Breath, Hoarseness, Tickling in the throat, Pain in the Eyes, Loss of sense of Smell, Taste and Hearing, Dullness of the Eyes, Ringing in the Ears, Pain in the Face, Tooth Ache, Pain in the Back, Dizziness, Nervous Headache, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Consumption, Pain in the Side, Back and Limbs, Fever and Ague, Chills, Fever, Nervous Debility, Lassitude, Want of Appetite, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Piles, Female Complaints, Pain in the Stomach, Sick Headache, Nervous Irritability, Sleeplessness, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Dysentery, Summer Complaints in children and adults, and all Female Weaknesses.

Thousands of Consumptions and Chronic Coughs abundantly prove its unfailing efficacy in such diseases and its unbounded curative power and healing, healing properties in the following complaints and diseases viz Spitting of Blood, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pain in the Breast and Side, Night Sweats, Nervous Complaints, Palpitation of the Heart, Cholera Infantum, Dysentery and Summer Complaints in Children and Adults, and all FEMALE WEAKNESSES.

Thousands of Consumptions

CONSUMPTION.
A DYING WOMAN CURED!

We state it as a fact, to prove the POWER TO SAVE LIFE, when this BALSAM is used, even after the person is considered by physicians and friends to be in the last stage of decay and actually consumed. In this case, to FARGO, that the SHROUD and MORTAL CLOTHES were bought! For the particulars of this case and the respectable and unquestionable proof of all the circumstances, the PUBLIC are now advertised to the "most effectual" and "certain cures" for all diseases intermediate, which none or all meals are subject.

A history of this Salve, and the wonderful cures it has effected in the above complaints, will be found in a pamphlet accompanying each Box — a reference to which is merely called to purchasing.

We would only add that we have much taken the task of manufacturing the above named Salve, I an incomprehensible trouble, and expense, not so much as a matter of speculation and pecuniary benefit as in compliance with the earnest and repeated solicitations of a friend and those who have experienced its wonderful medicinal and all-healing properties.

To say indeed, that we do not expect to realize handsome remuneration for our services, would make a useless and untrue. But we flatter ourselves that, for months, we are richly paid, and the article soon, very soon shall be an extensive sale — the Public are receiving a full and just equivalent.

As we have already intimated we do not and shall not call to our aid the empty puffing of the Press, or the hought certificates of individuals, and shall make use of them only so far as they have been, or hereafter may be, entirely voluntary and unsolicited.

The Salve is now before the Public!

They, and they lone, will decide upon its real virtues and medicinal properties. To say less were injustice to ourselves — to say more would be superfluous.

Here are some of the many Certificates —

The subscribers are afflicted with a Fever Sore upon his leg for about six years, and in the winter of 1845 it compelled us to confine from the sick to his bed. After using many remedies without success I applied some Salve obtained of Mr A M McKenney, and continued its application until I had used six bottles, which entirely cured me, and I have had no return of the disease since. I would freely say that I know the above Salve to be a cure for Corns, one of my family having used it for this purpose with complete success.

DANIEL SLAVY

Penobscot, (Maine) May, 1846

This certifies that one of my sons having been afflicted with a Fever Sore for more than a year, and having tried various means to effect a cure, without success which cost me about forty dollars, I bought 1 boz of JONATHAN McKENNEY'S SALVE, which effected an entire cure in less than two months

SIMEON MARSTON

Gray, May 11, 1846

Bangor June 5, 1846

Mr McKenney — In going into the woods in the autumn of 1845, as I was the charge of quite a number of men for the winter lumbering operation I was induced to take all w bottles of your Salve, it having been recommended to me as one of the best remedies for accidental Cuts and bruises, and I found it to my great satisfaction that it was an invaluable article. I also made application of it in cases of Corns, Moles and Bunions upon my feet and I must acknowledge it to be a complete specific. It can truly be called the Multum in Parvum.

REPORT AND TO OWNERS OF HORSES AND CATTLE

ILLOWAY'S CELEBRATED HEALING CURE AND UNIVERSAL CONDITION MEDICINE, is universally admitted to be a sure specific in the following disease s in HORSES and CATTLE. In Horses — Heaves, Coughs, Colds, Glanders, Horse Distemper, Lung Board, Worms, Botts, Scurvy and Scab, In Cattle — Bloat in Stagers, Loss of Cud, Horn Distemper, Black Tongue, Cattle Coughs, &c On trial these powders will be found to be the best renovating medicine extant for all herbivorous animals, as they operate directly (in smaller doses) upon the secretive glands and humors of the blood, and when horses and cattle are dull and lazy, and while the hair presents a rough and staring appearance or when they are changing their coat — at such times a few doses will be found indispensably necessary to bring them into prompt condition

☞ Give the article a trial, and it will recommend itself

ILLOWAY'S GREEN OINTMENT,

For Founder, Scratches, Mange or Scab, Diseases of the Foot, Saddle and Harness Galls, Swelled Legs and Grease, and for all cases where a healing ointment is needed.

To the Farmer, Dairyman, Wool Grower and Groom this Ointment is an inestimable article — in proof of which the numerous certificates of its efficacy could be given but it is not necessary, as it will stand entirely on its own merits

CAUTION EXTRA.

A man by the name of CLAPP has engaged with a young man of the name of S P Townsend and uses his name to put up a Sarsaparilla, which they call Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla denominating it OLD VINE Original etc This Townsend is no doctor and never was, but was formerly a worker on railroads, canals, and the like. Yet he assumes the title of Dr for the purpose of gaining credit for what he is doing. Publicity caution the public not to be deceived and purchase none but the GENUINE ORIGINAL OLD DR Townsend's Sarsaparilla. Have on it the Old Doctor's likeness his family coat of arms and his signature across the coat of arms

(Principal Office, 102 Nassau Street, New York.)

OLD DR. JACOB TOWNSEND,
THE ORIGINAL DISCOVERER OF THE Genuine Townsend Sarsaparilla.

Old Dr Townsend is now about 70 years of age and has long been known as the AUTHOR and INVENTOR of the GENUINE ORIGINAL OLD SENSATION PURIFYING Being in the wane of life and feeling a desire to see his family properly provided for, he has been induced to manufacture the article which has been kept out of market and the sales confined to those only who had proved its worth and known its value. He has feeling that cures of many a sufferer as those persons who had been healed of some disease and saved from death, proclaimed its excellence and wonderful

HEALING POWER.

Knowing many years ago that he had by his skill, science and experience devised an article which would be of incalculable benefit to the afflicted, yet he was unwilling to be classed with those who would be so hopelessly sick as to be considered by physicians and all friends, past a possibility of cure, and yet, the facts are, BRANT'S BALSAM has restored them to PERFECT HEALTH.

LUNGS BLED—MUST DIE!

Mr J S TERRY merchant, Byron Genesee county, N Y, wrote August 24, 1846 "BRANT'S Balsam is doing wonders here. I has cured a young lady of Consumption that all the physicians had said I must die. Now he commenced taking Brant's medicine he could not sleep his hand to his head and had a bleeding at the lungs which seemed to indicate he must die; it is astonishing to all, he is now all to be alive and well all over the county. He used only five bottles of this medicine. I was a young lady of Consumption in Orleans by which her father says no doctor could cure"

Mr MILLER, a merchant of the same place, has certified to the truth of the above statement

WAS BELIEVED PAST CURE.

Mr CORNELIUS H SMITH, merchant, Colt'ns Centre, Erie county, N Y, January 16, 1849 said "Your BRANT'S INDIAN PULMONARY BALSAM and BRANT'S PURIFYING EXTRACT are nearly all sold, and I want immediately another supply, for they sell more rapidly, and give better satisfaction, than all the other medicines we have for sale. The Pulmonary Balsam has raised a lady here from a bed of damp. ons and severe sickness, which all the doctors had given up as INCURABLE. They said she must die with a Consumption of the Lungs. After all had pronounced the case HOPELESS, she commenced taking BRANT'S BALSAM — and now she is well!"

CHRONIC DYSENTERY,
and SUMMER COMPLAINTS, in children or grown persons, cured without any failure whatever. Also —
CHOLERA INFANTUM.

No mother need ever mourn the death of her child by that child-destroying complaint, when teething in warm weather or Cholera Infantum or what is called brown Cholera, if "BRANT'S PULMONARY BALSAM" be administered to the child. It should, however, in such cases, be administered twice or large potents as the diseases on such spells prescribe, until the complaint is checked

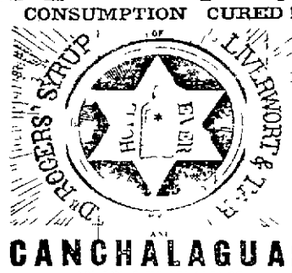
CONSUMPTION CURED!



AND

FOR THE CURE AND CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Asthma, Bronchitis, spitting of Blood, and all other Lung Complaints tending to CONSUMPTION.

READ! READ!!

This medicine is just what it is described to be above. A remedy for the complete cure of all the affections of the Throat and Lungs which are neglected and allowed to lead to Consumption. It is no worthless, catch penny medicine made up to take like many of the common nostrums of the day, but is strictly an office Family medicine — by one who has been furnished by an eminent physician, (the late Prof Dr Jacob Liverwort) and that till another improved by one of the present proprietors who is himself a regularly educated Physician and graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, and composed of the choicest articles in the vegetable kingdom most of them of long tried and established reputation and some of them entirely particularly the CANCHALAGUA, a plant of wonderful medicinal virtues, lately introduced into this country from Chili, and the Rock has shown to thousands of this country who have been really approved, for its good effects. The medicine is easily taken, and pleasant to the taste. The proprietors have no fears but that the public will be either to the Proprietors or their Agents, or their recommended by Physicians and Medical Colleges and Medical Societies, Lawyers Merchants, Mechanics, &c — as one pleasant, safe and efficacious medicine, and about it but that it is a medicine of intrinsic common virtue and efficacy

PAMPHLETS.

As no or but very small advertisement can begin to do justice to the merits of this article, the Proprietors have embodied in a pamphlet form the history of this Medicine — the description, nature and the preparing ingredients, the Medicinal virtues and to have given the children the incalculable amount of good which it has done. They have spared no pains or expense to make it strictly first class, and the pamphlet is not only but will not one to be overlooked by the curious, but prove one gems. The first and 7th and 8th pages are full and contain SANDS OF DOLLARS and should not be overlooked. It is strongly recommended to the public, which is respectfully invited to read it.

The Proprietors are not in any way willing to cure in the Directions for every person to read and think is put up from the time, the bottle with the
